This Country Arts SA residency honours the creative spirit of Cath Cantlon, who produced contemporary art and sculpture in her 'Palace of Production' (POP) studio, built behind the home she shared with her partner in Emu Bay, Kangaroo Island.

The Kangaroo Island 'Palace of Production' artist in residence program is a partnership between Country Arts SA and owner Catherine Murphy and is managed by Country Arts SA.

Country Arts SA is inviting regional South Australian artists from a visual arts discipline for a four - six week residency that can commence from Saturday 2 April 2022. The residency must be completed by Saturday 14 May 2022.

One artist will be selected to take part in the residency program.

BACKGROUND AND CONTEXT

The vision for the residency is to provide a regional contemporary visual artist an opportunity to immerse themselves in artistic exploration in a well-equipped artist's studio, within the tranquil, natural surroundings of Kangaroo Island.

Cath Cantlon's working life was dedicated to extensive collaborations in theatre, film, community and public art, plus interior and exterior designs for new architectural builds, across regional and urban South Australia. In the last three years of life, to 2018, Cath delighted in an exclusive focus on personal artistic expressions, a 'luxury' she had longed for throughout her career. Cath always referred to her studio as 'the Palace', because when built in 2012, her partner dubbed it the 'Palace of Production'.

A self-contained unit, adjacent to POP is provided for the period of residency.

Previous years' artists-in-residence include:

2019 Cynthia Schwertsik
2020 Jane Skeer
2021 Laura Wills

"My time on Kangaroo Island as part of the Palace of Production residency was magic. The unique and beautiful location, nestled in behind the sand dunes at Emu Bay greatly informed the outcomes of the residency. The connection and proximity to nature, near pristine and wildness matched and mixed thoroughly into my research and investigations." Laura Wills

LOCATION

Kangaroo Island

Kangaroo Island lies 13 km off the mainland of South Australia, southwest of Adelaide. The island is surprisingly large, being 155 kilometres long and 55 kilometres at its widest.

Over a third of the island is protected nature reserves, home to native wildlife like sea lions, koalas and diverse bird species. In the west, Flinders Chase National Park is known for penguin colonies and striking coastal rock formations, like the sculpted Remarkable Rocks and the stalactite-covered Admirals Arch.

The traditional owners and those that have a contemporary cultural connection to the island are the Ngarrindjeri, Ramindjeri, Narrunga and Kurna people.

Climate

Kangaroo Island never really gets too hot or too cold. In fact, the average temperature is between 11° and 19°C. Winters (June to September) are mild and wet, while summers (December to February) are warm and dry. August tends to be the coolest month of the year and February is the hottest, while from May to September is when Kangaroo Island experiences its rainy season.

From March to May is a time of greenery and transition. The rain gradually starts to fall providing the wildlife with fresh water and grass to feed on. It is the perfect time of year to go hiking and bird watching and to see the penguins begin nesting. You can expect the best possible weather averaging between 15 - 22 degrees.

Studio and residence

POP is located in Emu Bay, nestled in six acres of natural bush surroundings and is only a 200 metre walk from one of the islands favourite beaches.

The unique Emu Bay shale geological formation is another signature landmark, while a small fishing jetty dates back to 1918. Visitors who walk along the long beach in the evening may encounter some of the members of Emu Bay's fairy penguin colony.

How to get there

Start your travel planning by deciding how to get to Kangaroo Island – by ferry or plane.

- Ferry: SeaLink Kangaroo Island Ferry departs four times per day to Kangaroo Island from Cape Jervis, with additional services during peak times.

This a passenger and vehicle ferry which allows you to bring your own car to drive on the island. The crossing takes 45 minutes across the Backstairs Passage to Penneshaw. Situated 18 kms north-west of Kingscote, Emu Bay is approximately a 40 minute drive from the ferry terminal along North Coast Road towards Kingscote.

The Cape Jervis ferry terminal is located less than two hours drive south of Adelaide, on the tip of the Fleurieu Peninsula. If you have your own vehicle, or have rented one from Adelaide Airport on arrival, you can take the lovely scenic drive to Cape Jervis along the Fleurieu coast. Alternatively Sealink have coach connections from Adelaide, Goolwa and Victor Harbor to the ferry terminal at Cape Jervis.

- Air: Regional Express Airlines (REX) and Qantas operate between Adelaide Airport and Kingscote Airport on the island. Flight time is just over 30 minutes.
- Hire car: There are hire care facilities available at both the Penneshaw ferry terminal and Kingscote Airport.
- Public transport: Please note, there is very limited public transport on the island.
